

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

B. M. BENNANI, a native of Tripoli, Lebanon, teaches writing and literature courses at the University of Wyoming, where he edits PAINTBRUSH.

JOHN M. BENNETT holds a Ph.D. in Latin American Literature and heads up Luna Bisonte Prods, of Columbus. His most recent book is WHITE SCREEN (New Rivers Press).

PAUL BENNETT, a professional gardener and orchardist, lives in Granville and teaches at Denison University. His most recent book is A STRANGE AFFINITY (Orchard Press).

ROBERT BESCH, a native of Mansfield, is a former newspaper reporter, feature writer, editor, music and drama critic. He is currently a copy director at Howard Swink Advertising, in Marion. His poems won the 1975 Marion Campus Literary Awards Contest.

BUD BRICKER was born in Portsmouth, served in the Air Force Military Police, K-9 Corps and is now a student at O.S.U.'s Marion Campus.

In 1966 JOHN S. BRINKERHOFF won a top prize in the William Randolph Hearst National Journalism Awards Contest for an eyewitness account of a W. Virginia coal mine fire in which seven men died. His book, ALL IN TIME, was nominated for the Lamont Award in 1973. His is at present a copywriter for Lord, Sullivan and Yoder Advertising, in Marion.

THERESA CHANCE lives in Forest, Ohio and is currently enrolled in the secretarial program at Marion Technical College.

HALE CHATFIELD, a nationally-known poet, is Associate Professor of English at Hiram College.

DEBORAH SUE CLEVINGER, born and raised in Magnetic Springs, Ohio, attends O.S.U.'s Marion Campus, where she is pursuing a degree in English. This is her first published work.

FRANK CONAWAY is an award-winning photographer and the Director of Admissions at Marion Technical College.

BETTY M. DIETSCH teaches English and Communications at Marion Technical College.

ERIC W. FELT is a student at O.S.U.'s Marion Campus, where he is studying toward a degree in Geology. This is his first published poem.

ROBERT FLANAGAN teaches fiction and verse writing at Ohio Wesleyan University. His novel, MAGGOT (Warner Paperback Library), is in its fourth printing.

GARRETT W. FOX lives in Bucyrus. His story, MSAISUHTNE, won first prize in the 1975 Marion Campus Literary Awards Contest.

GALEN GREEN lives in Columbus, where he edits FIREWEED. His work has appeared in the THE NEW YORK QUARTERLY and WESTERN HUMANITIES REVIEW.

MARGARET HONTON, of Columbus, is active in the Ohio Poets in the Schools Program and has given readings and workshops at Ohio State University and the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

EDWARD LENSE holds a Ph.D. in Modern Poetry and is Editorial Assistant for the journal, OHIO HISTORY. His poems have appeared in several national publications.

SHAWN MILLER is a student at O.S.U.'s Marion Campus. He is a founding member of the Marion Creative Writing Workshop.

STEPHEN NAGY was born in Columbus and raised on a farm "just about a mile from Groveport." His work has appeared in ENCOUNTER, ASPECT and THE OHIO JOURNAL.

THOMAS J. OWENS attended O.S.U. in Columbus and the University of Arizona, where he studied under Richard Shelton. He is presently employed by O.S.U. Libraries.

CARL PHAGAN is an anthropologist teaching at O.S.U.'s Marion Campus. This is his first published poem.

DORTHY PREDMORE'S essay DUCKS ON THE POND won the 1975 Marion Campus Literary Awards Contest. She lives near Galion.

DARRYL PRICE, editor of EVERYBODY'S CHOICE, has published poetry in THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER, JESTURE and DRIFTWOOD EAST QUARTERLY. He lives in Columbus.

GERALD STINE lives in Marion and attends O.S.U.'s Marion Campus.

KAREN RISNER is a student in the psychology program at O.S.U.'s Marion Campus.

WILLIAM THOMAS, presently living in Findlay, grew up in Marion County. His "fictive biography," THE COUNTRY IN THE BOY, has recently been published by Thomas Nelson, Inc.

★ ★ ★

SEP 26 2000

