

The Mirror

“Who are you?” the young girl asked,
and the other answered, “You.”

“You are me? How can that be?”

“Oh dear, I thought you knew.”

“With eyes so sad and smile faded,
How can you be me?”

“I’m sorry that I couldn’t spare you all the senseless tragedy.”

—TC Albright