

Then—you kissed me again,
bringing me back.
I looked at you.
Really looked at you
and realized
I'd taken another picture for my
mental scrapbook.
Someday I'd tell my grandchildren
that, indeed,
Love came to visit me on a warm December day.

Brenda Ackerman