

My America

Cold silvery steel, turning and twisting
Supporting the color of our cloth
In the wind, waving like a wasp's wings
Colorful, awake, alive
Like a mirrored image of my wife's heart
A beacon of promise and prosperity
Changing colors as it waves in the wind
On a wand of silvered steel

—Scott Shirk