

Once I lived as if bridled by death

Once I lived as if bridled by death
My past and future alive with the music of life
It was as if my innocent soul recalled the valley
If only the vile fox came to my altar
All eyes on me, our mouths have no strength
To feel death is to know life
Fate, comes bounding over the horizon

—Various