

My Eternal Love

As I gaze upon green grasses of spring
I think of you
You're an emerald of essence and perfection
I believe in you
As the sultry summer air swarms our skin with sweat
I will hold you
As the fall foliage flutters its leaves of color
I will adore you
And as the winter snow showers shimmer through your eyes
I will want you
During the days we are not together
I will miss you
And on the last day our hearts breathe as one
I will love you
And as my spirit leaves my soul
I'll await your return
Like the first day I met you
My eternal love
Is for you

—Scott Shirk